PERSONAL MENTION

D. H. Sanders, of Athena, is in the city today on a business visit.

Mrs. W. E. Cahill of Dayton, is the guest of G. M. Rice and family.

Ira Julian, of Helix, leaves tonight for an extended visit to his old home in Versailles, O.

Conductor Harry C. Grady, of La Grande, is on the Pendleton-Huntington passenger run for a few days.

A. T. Van Cleave and Bliss Kelley departed last night for the Columbia river hills for a few days shooting.

William Connolly, air brake inspector of the O. R. & N. accompanied by Mrs. Connolly, is in the city.

C. B. Lyman, for a number of years passenger brakeman on the Pendleton-Huntington passenger run, has resigned.

County Judge Lionel R. Webster, of Multnomah county, is in Pendleton attending the session of the state supreme court.

Dr. T. J. Lloyd, the veterinarian, will leave in a few days for an extended trip over the north part of the county, on professional business.

T. M. Barger, formerly of Helix, but now of Walla Walla, passed through the city last evening for Portland, where he is summoned as a juror for the United States court.

W. W. Wolf, one of the prominent farmers of Echo, and one of the few men in the Echo country who raised a crop of broom corn and sorghum this season, is a guest at Hotel Bickers today.

J. C. Henry, coroner of Union county, and a prominent furniture dealer of La Grande, accompanied the remains of Conductor Charles F. Brown from La Grande to this city last night.

Mrs. E. Swauger, of Kamela, is in the city today, searching for additional evidence as to the circumstances surrounding the death of her son, Seymour Swauger, under the wheels of a train three weeks ago, near Bingham Springs.

Judge Stephen A. Lowell departed last night for Portland, where he will join the Oregon delegation to the National Irrigation Congress that convenes at El Paso November 15. Judge Lowell expects to be absent from Pendleton about two weeks.

Charles Hamilton, for four years passenger brakeman on the Huntington-Pendleton passenger run, is now employed on the yard force in the O. R. & N. yards here. Hamilton was the regular brakeman for Conductor Charles F. Brown for three years.

Samuel White, of Baker City, retiring prosecuting attorney of the Eastern Oregon district, is in the city attending supreme court. He is very grievously disappointed that Mr. Parker is not elected but has not become discouraged and will still hope to live to see a democratic president in the White House.

Leroy Lomax, prosecuting attorney of the Walla Walla, Baker and Union county district, is in the city attending to business before the supreme court. Mr. Lomax is now one of the leading attorneys of the state and came to Union county a very few years ago as a school teacher. By application to business he prepared himself for the profession of law, and rapidly climbed to the top.

JUDGE BALLIET HERE.

Father of the Famous Mining Promoter in the City Last Night.

Judge I. M. Balliet, of Des Moines, Iowa, father of Letson Balliet, the famous mining promoter who has been tried in the United States courts four times for fraudulent mining operations and for sending fraudulent matter through the mails, was a guest of Hotel St. George last night.

Judge Balliet is one of the most highly respected citizens of Iowa, and has made every effort to clear up the charges against his son, who is the most noted mining plunger of the Pacific coast. Letson Balliet will be tried for the fifth time at Des Moines this winter for defrauding innocent victims through his sale of White Swan mining stock. Judge Balliet is a pleasant and scholarly man, and one of the most prominent jurists of Iowa.

Cattle Market Quiet.

Robert N. Stanfield and Asa B. Thomson, prominent Butter creek stockmen, were in Pendleton last night. They returned to Echo this morning. "The cattle market," said Mr. Stanfield, "is quiet just now. The stockmen have secured all the feeders they need, and it will be at least six weeks before there are any fat animals for the market."

Seeding on the Reservation.

The wheat land is now in excellent condition for seeding on the reservation, and everybody is rushing the work as rapidly as possible. The wheat already sown is coming up nicely, and the stand is said to be better in places than for years. About the usual acreage will be seeded.

Sir Knights, Attention.

NEW KIND OF CORN.

That is, Iowa Soil Has Not Been Accustomed to Producing It.

An Eldora, Iowa, dispatch says: Iowa has again proved the prolific qualities of its soil by producing some of the corn that was raised in Syria and in parts of the Holy Land during the time of Christ.

Dr. William Hooper Young, of this city, has successfully grown this fall a field of curious corn which is the descendant of the cereal which has raised on the plains of Bethlehem and is identical in shape, form and peculiarity with that which was used by the prodigal son, as he ate with the swine as related in the parable mentioned in Holy Writ.

Dr. Young secured the peculiar seed from a traveling Syrian whom he chanced to meet last spring and the foreigner assured the physician that the corn would grow in this climate. The kernels all have separate husks and encased in the husk this kernel is of a yellow and sometimes of a white color and the taste is sweet.

The ears grow to rather an average size, are peculiar in appearance and indeed make a curiosity to look upon. Dr. Young feels confident that this same corn could be successfully grown in this state, and is sure that it would be more hardy and able to withstand the late falls and early frosts much better than does the ordinary field corn which is common to this locality.

The ears which have been gathered and exhibited have attracted a great deal of attention and the prophecy of the strange Syrian who furnished the seed has come true in regard to the growth of the peculiar cereal in Iowa.

MISS HANNA WILL SPEAK.

Indian Mission Teacher at the Presbyterian Church.

Miss Katherine W. Hanna will speak at the service at the Presbyterian church this evening.

Miss Hanna was formerly a teacher in Pendleton Academy, and has many friends in the city. She left here three years ago to take a position as mission teacher among the Makaw Indians on Neah Bay, Washington, under direction of the Presbyterian women's board of missions. During her visit here she is the guest of Mrs. Fred Nolf.

Golconda Meeting in Session.

A meeting of Golconda directors and officials is in session at the offices of W. E. Davidson and Company, at time of going to press. A deal to lease the property to Alexander Prussing, mention of which was made in these columns, is being completed, but details are not available until this meeting adjourns.
